BICENTENNIAL OF THE GREEK REVOLUTION (1821-2021) The Greek Revolution in the Age of Revolutions (1776-1848) Reappraisals and Comparisons

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE Athens, 20-21 MARCH 2020

30 Panepistimiou str., Central Building National and Kapodistrian University of Athens The Bicentennial of the Greek Revolution (1821-2021) offers the occasion to revisit and rethink many of the issues raised and fought over in the critical period of political and social upheaval and ideological change that has been canonized in historiography as the 'Age of Revolution', extending from 1776 to 1848. The Greek Revolution in 1821 was a pivotal event in the period of repression that followed the defeat of the French Revolution in 1815. It signaled the earliest expression of the hope of freedom that was to initiate a process of revival and transmission of liberal ideals on a global scale. Reappraising the Greek revolutionary experience and comparing it with other revolutionary movements across Europe at the time can provide insights into the revolutionary phenomenon and the character of the 'Age of Revolutions' that might prove useful and suggestive in understanding parallel forms of collective mobilization and change world-wide.

BICENTENNIAL ACTIONS

"When a nation desires independence, a revolution is probable; but when it is spurred into action by an appetite for revenge as well as by a passion for liberty; [..] a revolution becomes inevitable" Georges Finlay
